An Exciting Series

Donna Satchell is one of the contributing authors to the 303 Solutions books written to provide readers with techniques and tips to be effective communicators, successful leaders, and better managers of their time.

Be better heard, understood and respected. Your ability to express yourself in group and one-on-one situations is your number one skill to quickly improve the quality of your life. Learn how to communicate more clearly, confidently and credibly.

Leaders are smart, strategic, articulate, caring, persuasive, and so much more. Develop both your inward and outward leadership by following the expert advice in this book. Then see the remarkable results from your use of your new leadership skills.

Find out what high achievers do every day to get the right things done at the right time. You will feel your "can do" confidence soar as you put into to practice the tips, short-cuts and strategies used by respected consultants, trainers, and speakers.
